

My Death

Kevin Hart

Received: 10 July 2009 / Accepted: 21 July 2009 / Published online: 16 August 2009
© The Author(s) 2002

Like the sun
I cannot bear to face it:
I say that it has nothing to do with me,

Exists outside of me, a silence
A darkness
When everything is done.

Yet even now
I feel it deep within me, closer
Than my breathing,

Moving within me, slow as my blood,
Measuring me
With all I care to do, a shadow

I follow
Or that follows me
And leads me to my centre not my edge.

Reprinted by kind permission of the author and publishers from Kevin Hart. 2002. Flame Tree. Sydney: Paper Bark Press.

K. Hart (✉)
Department of Religious Studies, University of Virginia,
Charlottesville, VA, USA
e-mail: kjh9u@virginia.edu