About the Conference

The Fourth International Conference on Catholic Educational Leadership brings together renowned Keynote speakers, scholars and practitioners to discuss and address issues in educational leadership in the 21st century.

As leaders of schools, colleges, universities, educational organisations and systems confront the complexities brought about by continuous and rapid changes in contemporary educational environments, new and innovative leadership views and paradigms are becoming essential elements to effectively support and sustain leaders through these challenging times.

Delegates to the Conference will be provided with numerous opportunities to gain insight into current leadership perspectives as well as network and form collaborative partnerships with peers and experts in the field. Papers and symposia addressing the Conference theme Directions for Catholic Educational Leadership in the 21st Century: The Vision, Challenges and Reality will be presented in concurrent sessions to be held at specified times during the Conference. An exhibition of cutting edge educational resources by leading educational providers will be showcased throughout the event.

Our Keynote Speakers

PROFESSOR PATRICK DUIGNAN, ACU National, AUSTRALIA

Patrick is Director of the Flagship for Creative & Authentic Leadership of ACU National. He has a distinguished national and international record as educator, researcher, author, consultant and Keynote speaker in the areas of Management and Leadership in public sector organisations. In 2004, he was presented with a Gold Medal by the Australian Council of Educational Leadership (ACEL), the most prestigious award, for his outstanding contribution to the development of educational leadership.

PROFESSOR GAIL FURMAN, Washington State University, USA

Gail is known for her work in the areas of Leadership and organizations, school as community, moral leadership and ethics. She is Professor/Program Coordinator for Educational Leadership at the Washington State University and teaches Values and Ethics in Educational Leadership, Leadership Development seminar, Community and Communications, Qualitative Research Methods, and Doctoral Dissertation Preparation. In 1998, she won the Davis Award for her article in Educational Administration, "Postmodernism and Community in Schools: Unraveling the Paradox."

PROFESSOR PADRAIG HOGAN, National University of Ireland Maynooth, IRELAND

Padraig is a former President of the Educational Studies Association of Ireland, a former General Editor of the Association's journal Irish Educational Studies, and is currently Assistant Editor of the Journal of Philosophy of Education. Some of his research interests are in the areas of quality in educational experience, leadership in education, pluralism and multi-cultural influences in schooling, international developments in educational policy and professional ethics in teaching. He is involved with Teaching and Learning 21, a research initiative designed to enhance innovation and creativity in second-level schools in Ireland.

ARCHBISHOP MICHAEL MILLER, Congregation of Catholic Education, The Vatican, ROME

A highly respected figure in Catholic education, Archbishop Miller is the Vatican's administrator for Roman Catholic universities, faculties, schools and educational institutes worldwide. Prior to his appointment as the Secretary of the Congregation of Catholic Education, he was President of the University of St Thomas in Houston. He is also a member of the Congregation of Priests of Saint Basil, an international religious congregation whose charism is "education within the Church's mission of evangelisation."
